
The Farr GP42 project "Roma" began in October 2005 with ORC's announcement of this new class. Excited by the success of the TP52 class and the growing interest in Box-Rule boats, Filippo Faruffini contracted Farr Yacht Design to develop design #605 to be built at Latini Marine, outside of Rome, Italy. After the initial sea trial Filippo had this to say about his new Farr GP42 Roma; "It is really fun and fast! I think Farr Yacht Design did a very good job with this boat. We are looking forward to racing in Valencia."

The ORC GP42 Level-Class Rule develops a boat with light displacement, simple fractional rig with non-overlapping jibs, no running backstays and generous sail area. The result is a boat with great performances at a relatively affordable price. This rule allows owners and sailors to compete and enjoy grand-prix racing in the boat of their choice without time allowance or handicaps.

Latini Marine will host an official presentation of the ORC GP42 at the Valencia Yachting Club, July 1st at 7:00 pm. Jim Schmicker, Senior Naval Architect at Farr Yacht Design will be in attendance to speak about this new design. Visit the Roma GP42 website to learn more about this boat: www.romagp42.it
